

Betty's Rice Cooker Rice

Uploaded on 5 Aug 2010

In this video, Betty demonstrates how to cook rice using an electric rice cooker. If you prefer to cook rice in the traditional way, please see Betty's Quick Tip 50. The brand of my rice cooker is Black , Decker, and it makes a maximum of 3 cups of cooked rice. It comes with a plastic measure, which is equivalent to 1/2 cup regular dry measure. For 3 cups of cooked white rice, fill the plastic cup 3 times with uncooked white rice and place it in the removable container of the rice cooker. Rinse the rice thoroughly, draining off any excess water. Now, fill the container (containing the rinsed rice) up to the 3-cup level. Cover with the lid that comes with the rice cooker and place it in its base, and turn the rice cooker on. (Make sure that it is plugged in!) A light comes on to indicate that the rice cooker has been turned on. You must then press the "cook" button, which turns a second light on. Your work is done! When the second ("cooking") light goes off, you will have delicious, perfectly cooked white rice. This will take 20 to 25 minutes. The rice cooker goes into a "keep warm" mode immediately, with the first light staying on to indicate this. That gives you time to work on an accompaniment for the rice, etc. You will find this to be a handy appliance, if you cook a lot of rice. I hope you enjoy this demonstration. I will have something to go with the rice tomorrow! Love. Betty
